MESSENGERS OF THE KING

Oscar Wilde wrote a beautiful story called The Happy Prince. During his life on earth the prince had lived a sheltered life. When he died the people erected a statue of him in the main square of the capital city. The statue was covered all over with leaves of gold. It had two sapphires for eyes and a large ruby on the handle of his sword. One cold evening a little swallow, on its way south, landed at the base of the statue. As he was resting there, a few drops of water fell on him. Looking up he saw that the Happy Prince was crying. 'Why are you crying' the swallow asked.

'When I was alive I saw no suffering' said the Prince.' But from my perch up here I see there is a lot of unhappiness in the world. I'd like to help but I can't because my feet are fastened to the pedestal. I need a messenger. Would you be my messenger?' 'But I have to go to Egypt,' the Swallow answered. 'Please stay this night with me,' 'Very well then. What can I do for you?' 'In a room there is a mother tending her sick child. She has no money to pay for a doctor. Take the ruby from my sword and give it to her.' The swallow removed the ruby with his beak, and bore it away to the woman and she rejoiced. The doctor came and her child recovered. The swallow came back and slept soundly. Next day the prince asked him to stay another night. As he was running errands of mercy, the swallow's eyes were opened. He saw how much poverty and suffering there was in the city. He was glad to stay with the prince and be his messenger. One by one, at the prince's urging, he stripped off the leaves of gold and gave them away to the poor and the needy. Finally, he arrived back one evening. By now the statue was bare, having been stripped of all its ornaments. The night was very cold. Next morning the little swallow was found dead at the base of the statue. The prince had given away all his riches, but he could not have done so without his faithful messenger, the little swallow.

Christ Our King, gave himself totally while he lived on earth. Even as he died he was still giving to those who were receptive. And from his lofty perch in heaven he surveys the plight of God's children on earth. But his feet are fastened, his hands are tied, his tongue is silent. He needs messengers. He needs us. He has no hands but ours, no feet but ours, no tongue but ours. And it is his riches, not our own, that we are called on to dispense – his love, his forgiveness, his mercy, his good news.....What is involved is helping in simple things, things which are available to everyone – giving a hungry person something to eat, or a thirsty person something to drink, welcoming a stranger, or visiting someone who is sick or in prison..... To do things such as these one doesn't have to be either wealthy or talented. All one needs is a warm and willing heart. Everyone can do something – yes even a swallow.' Let us serve the Lord with gladness - Remember Jesus' words 'Love one another as I have loved you.'

Kindest wishes - Dean Peter

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON: How worthy is the Lamb who was slain, to receive power and divinity, and wisdom and strength and honour. To him belong glory and power for ever and ever.

FIRST READING:

A reading from the prophet Ezekiel 34:11-12.15-17

The Lord says this: I am going to look after my flock myself and keep all of it in view. As a shepherd keeps all his flock in view when he stands up in the middle of his scattered sheep, so shall I keep my sheep in view. I shall rescue them from wherever they have been scattered during the mist and darkness. I myself will pasture my sheep, I myself will show them where to rest – it is the Lord who speaks. I shall look for the lost one, bring back the stray, bandage the wounded and make the weak strong. I shall watch over the fat and healthy. I shall be a true shepherd to them.

As for you, my sheep, the Lord says this: I will judge between sheep and sheep, between rams and he-goats.

The word of the Lord.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

The Lord is my shepherd; there is nothing I shall want.

The Lord is my shepherd;
there is nothing I shall want.
Fresh and green are the pastures
where he gives me repose. (R.)

Near restful waters he leads me,
to revive my drooping spirit.
He guides me along the right path;
he is true to his name. (R.)

You have prepared a banquet for me in the sight of my foes.
My head you have anointed with oil;
my cup is overflowing. (R.)

Surely goodness and kindness shall follow me
all the days of my life.
In the Lord's own house shall I dwell
for ever and ever. (R.)

SECOND READING:

A reading from the first letter of St Paul to the Corinthians 15:20-26.28

Christ has been raised from the dead, the first-fruits of all who have fallen asleep. Death came through one man and in the same way the resurrection of the dead has come through one man. Just as all men die in Adam, so all men will be brought to life in Christ; but all of them in their proper order: Christ as the first-fruits and then, after the coming of Christ, those who belong to him. After that will come the end, when he hands over the kingdom to God the Father, having done away with every sovereignty, authority and power. For he must be king until he has put all his enemies under his feet and the last of the enemies to be destroyed is death. And when everything is subjected to him, then the Son himself will be subject in his turn to the One who subjected all things to him, so that God may be all in all.

The word of the Lord.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION:

Alleluia, alleluia!

Blessings on him who comes in the name of the Lord!

Blessings on the coming kingdom of our father David!

Alleluia!

GOSPEL:

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Matthew 25:31-46

Jesus said to his disciples: 'When the Son of Man comes in his glory, escorted by all the angels, then he will take his seat on his throne of glory. All the nations will be assembled before him and he will separate men one from another as the shepherd separates sheep from goats. He will place the sheep on his right hand and the goats on his left. Then the King will say to those on his right hand, "Come, you whom my Father has blessed, take for your heritage the kingdom prepared for you since the foundation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me food; I was thirsty and you gave me drink; I was a stranger and you made me welcome; naked and you clothed me, sick and you visited me, in prison and you came to see me." Then the virtuous will say to him in reply, "Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you; or thirsty and give you drink? When did we see you a stranger and make you welcome; naked and clothe you; sick or in prison and go to see you?" And the King will answer, "I tell you solemnly, in so far as you did this to one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did it to me." Next he will say to those on his left hand, "Go away from me, with your curse upon you, to the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels. For I was hungry and you never gave me food; I was thirsty and you never gave me anything to drink; I was a stranger and you never made me welcome, naked and you never clothed me, sick and in prison and you never visited me." Then it will be their turn to ask, "Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty, a stranger or naked, sick or in prison, and did not come to your help?" Then he will answer, "I tell you solemnly, in so far as you neglected to do this to one of the least of these, you neglected to do it to me." And they will go away to eternal punishment, and the virtuous to eternal life.'

The Gospel of the Lord.

COMMUNION ANTIPHON: The Lord sits as King for ever. The Lord will bless his people with peace.
